Merry Christmas

Oh Christmas tree...

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA'S CHRISTMAS tree at the foot of Ocean Avenue in all of its glory as shown in this long exposure by Pine Cone photographer Holly McFarland, an appropriate name for this time of the year. The Pine Cone's "Christmas" issue today you may have noticed is dated Monday, Dec. 22 to give all of our employees a well-deserved rest for the holidays. We look forward to serving the community again in 1987, our 73rd year of service to the community. Enjoy the holidays, but let's all be careful out there. See you in 1987.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor are welcome. Views on all matters are acceptable, following the guidelines of good taste. While there is no limit on length, brevity is encouraged. Letters are subject to editing for style and length. Each letter must contain name, address and signature. A phone number is needed for verification only. Anonymous letters are not accepted.

Protecting the ocean

Dear Editor:

On Oct. 20, Rep. Barbara Boxer announced that she will be introducing the California Ocean Sanctuary Act at the beginning of the 100th session of Congress early next year.

The Ocean Protection Coalition (OPC) urges all Californians, both individually and through civic and environmental organizations to send letters of support to both Rep. Barbara Boxer (315 Cannon Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20516) and your own congressional representative.

The OPC introduced the concept of permanent protection for the Northern California Coast as Assembly Joint Resolution (AJR) 91 which passed both houses of the California State Legislature in August. AJR 91 called on the U.S. Congress to enact legislation creating a marine sanctuary from Point Buchon (in San Luis Opospo County) to the Oregon border, and seaward from state waters to 200 miles offshore.

The California Ocean Sanctuary Act will go even further than AJR 91 requested, extending sanctuary protection to parts of Southern California as well. The bill would specifically prohibit oil, gas, and mineral exploration and development from submerged lands located within the designated Ocean Sanctuary; prohibit ocean incineration and ocean dumping; and allow for the continued practice of harvesting of marine life, commercial fishing and recreational fishing.

The California Ocean Sanctuary Act is extremely exciting and important. It states what we want and have fought for for years — permanent protection for our magnificent California marine and coastal environments which are so valuable to us.

As coastal residents, we truly are the guardians of this national treasure. Please write a letter today to Boxer as you join in the rising tide of support for California Ocean Sanctuary. Thank you. The ocean thanks you.

P.S. Please try to have your letter arrive by Jan. 5, 1987. If you can't make this deadline, send it along anyway.

Goals achieved

Dear Editor:

After four years of work studying and improving recreational activities in the community of Carmel, the Carmel Recreation Committee appointed by the past city council concludes its obligation and officially steps aside with its goals and objective achieved.

Now the responsibilities and leadership for the program fall upon our new city Recreation Director Beth Kastrup and the newly-appointed Recreation Commission. Mayor Eastwood and the present city council are to be commended in joining the past council in visualizing the possibilities that are before our community.

As the Recreation Committee concludes its job, I feel a deep sense of gratitude to the many members of our community who were so generous with their help and time during the past four years of labor. The community of Carmel owes a debt of gratitude to the members of the old committee; Harriet Rountree, Pat Sipple, Merv Sutton, and Betty Plank, who guided, nurtured and at times agonized over the development of an organized recreation department and program for all ages for the community of Carmel . . .

Ken White
Chairman, Recreation Committee

Freeway ugliness

Dear Editor:

I attended the Dec. 12 Caltrans presentation at Carmel Middle School, of designs to alleviate traffic congestion between Carpenter and Carmel Valley on Highway 1. We saw Highway 1 widened to four or six lanes and a Hatton Canyon Freeway, spectacular with two spaghetti interchanges. Not suggested was a single underpass at Carmel Valley Road, where the trouble originates.

Many people, including several retired and some locally known environmentalists, enthusiastically endorsed the Hatton Canyon project. I reflected that most of these people arrived here within the past 30 years hoping to escape urban pressures and ugliness.

While rolling slowly from Carpenter to Carmel Valley Road in combined tourist and commuter traffic, I have watched the clock frequently, and always made it under 10 minutes. What ails these people, who cannot spend a few minutes per day sitting in their cars, listening to the radio, thinking? Do they, who came to enjoy the landscape and peace, never spend 10 useless minutes at leisure, and must now have a freeway to hurry to town?

They are prepared to sacrifice the beauty of that tree-lined road, to disturb the peace and viewsheds of countless residents in the area affected, for this one mile of convenience. Concerns were expressed about ambulances delayed in traffic. I have not seen this in 12 years, averaging one-and-a-half trips to town daily.

Readers preferring an underpass at Carmel Valley Road to multi-lane or freeway interchange ugliness should write to Caltrans, P.O. Box 8114, San Luis Obispo, CA 93402.

Diligent public service

Dear Editor:

The general public seldom realizes the extent of personal dedication to service given by governmental employees. Never before have I seen such diligent efforts by the Carmel city staff in all its departments as during this past year to fulfill the expectations of the people of Carmel. May I take this opportunity to thank them.

Tom May

Big Sur update

Dear Editor:

If one reads between the lines, it is questionable whether Sen. Pete Wilson will be reintroducing his legislation to place Big Sur under the control of the federal government.

"It's still up in the air. I have to talk to Panetta," is the quick quote your farflung correspondent was able to get out of Wilson when bumping into the senator in Sacramento Dec. 2. A follow-up question was impossible as Wilson had to rush away.

What is important is that Wilson did not respond assertively about re-introducing the measure, which means that he does have his doubts about another try.

Equally important is his reference to Panetta. Leon worked hard on a compromise plan and it appears that Wilson, by saying he must talk to Panetta before making up his mind on another try, is seriously considering Panetta's plan as an alternative.

Only time will tell. But I know how important this issue is to Big Sur residents and the Monterey Peninsula, both the proponents and opponents, so I thought this news would be of interest.

Happy holidays.

A glorious mess

Dear Editor:

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive."

How many people in this administration are now pondering these fateful words? It is one glorious mess.

Now our free press is being harassed and condemned for asking questions, printing the news and trying to learn the truth about the Iran affair. How else would we, the public, learn about how our government operates?

Harry Truman, once castigated by a major Eastern newspaper as a "nincompoop and the worst president we've ever had" once said "If you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen." Kennedy, Roosevelt, Nixon, Carter and others have all had to face the fire at one time or another.

Mr. Reagan, who has never admitted to a mistake, made the mistake of saying that the Pope approved of the invasion of Nicaragua. Another "deliberate misstatement"? Jimmy Carter was blamed for the Marine tragedy in Lebanon by weakening the CIA. The president later apologized to Carter.

Perhaps if it weren't for the Democrats, the Congress and San Donaldson, Mr. Reagan might not be in the mess he is in.

Robert Moffat Sr.
Carmel

Keep it natural

Dear Editor:

I have enjoyed walking all over the Carmel Beach area for more than 28 years and I think that the residents of Carmel should closely examine the motives of the so-called "ecologists" who are involved with the Carmel Beach task force, because this project will completely alter the natural beauty of Carmel Beach and it will involve wasting a lot of taxpayers' dollars to "improve" this public property.

Their ideas of "improving" the beach area are not natural and they misrepresent the contemporary ecosystem which does and should include immigrants and plants from all over the world. The ecologists themselves are "non-native" humans.

The fact that there are many homes built along the Carmel Beach cliff area is an example of bad planning by many planning departments in the county and in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

All of the landscaping, fences and most of the wooden "cattle chutes" are just a waste of public funds and all this construction will ruin the natural serenity of Carmel Beach where the land meets the sea. The boardwalks are an eyesore and a blight on the natural coastline of Carmel Beach. I like to walk on the ice plants and on the dirt in the cliff areas and my feet do not cause erosion. I don't like the bike path built by Pacific Grove along the coast and I want to stop it from expanding.

The city of Carmel should consider just maintaining the existing boardwalks, without building any more boardwalks. No one should build any fences anywhere at all on this public property and the city should not spend any money on landscaping the dirt areas above the retaining walls. Replanting the beautiful African ice plant is the cheapest and most efficient method of keeping a garden over the concrete walls but if the dirt is just watered and left alone, the wind will "vegetate" the dirt areas for free. Some people have traditionally planted trees and other plants along the shoreline for free, and this would be a more rewarding exercise than paying someone to outlaw walking on public property.

Michael Bogatirev
Pacific Grove

Commendable action

Dear Editor:

I'm not a Clint Eastwood fan as regards his movies. Nothing personal, I just don't idolize nor even admire anyone by virtue of them pretending for a living. What's important is one's "real life" roles.

As mayor of Carmel, Mr. Eastwood has just done something quite commendable. His purchase of the Mission Ranch to preserve it as is proves that the very rich need not always use their money for exploitation. Mr. Eastwood's purchase is very generous and stands as an example to the rest of the rich to use their money for the benefit of others without ulterior motives.

Often in my wildest daydreams I see myself winning some mega-lottery and using the money to purchase tracts of land to preserve that which would otherwise go to the bulldozers. Mr. Eastwood has done what I'd like to do. Now maybe some of the rest of the money around here will follow suit, eh?

Eastwood's election as mayor top story of '86

JANUARY

The Pebble Beach Community Services District declares the Del Monte Forest site planned for a reclamation plant exempt from county zoning laws, despite protests from private and public agencies.

The board took the action because its county land use permit for the site will run out at the beginning of the year. Rather than file another for another land use permit, the PBCSD declared the site exempt but retained the conditions specified within the expiring county permit.

Although there are concerns that the developer may be in violation of an earlier permit, the Coastal Commission granted Scenic Associates permission to begin another phase of grading work for a subdivision in the Carmel Point area.

Scenic Associates intends to eventually build eight homes on what is known as the Stewart property, an approximately 39,000-square-foot vacant parcel on the north side of Scenic Road near Isabella and Ocean View avenues.

Joan DeMers, Wells Fargo Bank personal banking officer, is installed as Carmel Business Association president.

Barbara Simmons is installed as president of Carmel Board of Realtors.

The Carmel City Council votes to petition the state Supreme Court to block development of the proposed Spanish Bay resort in Del Monte Forest.

The Carmel City Council adopts an ordinance that requires public agencies using Carmel streets for utilities and pipes to obtain a city use permit. The ordinance could be used to halt the Pebble Beach Community Service District's proposed reclamation plant.

The Pine Inn on Ocean Avenue between Lincoln and Monte Verde streets is purchased by Fresno developers Richard Gunner and George Andros.

In an decision that is sure to spark even more controversy, the Monterey County Board of Supervisors — after an 11th-hour compromise — gives unanimous aproval to a conveyor belt sand hauling operation to Pebble Beach Co. for its Spanish Bay resort project.

The compromise includes a condition that the gravel pit would have to be reforested, eliminating its use as a reclamation plant site.

The California Coastal Commission grants preliminary approval to a draft of the Big Sur Land Use Plan (LUP) subject to several minor modifications to be worked out between the county and Coastal Commission staffs.

Paul Laub, Carmel entrepreneur, throws his hat into the political ring as a Carmel mayoral candidate.

Jacqueline Smith, Carmel resident, embarks on "The Great Peace March" walk across the nation for world peace.

A "mysterious" political telephone survey is conducted in Carmel. Questions include asking for opinions on Mayor Charlotte Townsend and whether the interviewee would vote for Clint Eastwood.

The Carmel Police Department breaks up a major car burglary ring.

Mayor Charlotte Townsend files to run again for mayor of Carmel.

Clint Eastwood, Carmel resident, will run for mayor of Carmel-by-the-Sea in the April 8 election. Eastwood says in an exclusive interview with The Carmel Pine Cone that he will challenge incumbent Mayor Charlotte Townsend.

News media from all over the world take interest in the campaign.

Pebble Beach accepts conditions placed on its proposed Spanish Bay resort conveyor system and will soon begin installation, even though it appears such action will preclude development of a wastewater reclamation facility at Sawmill Gulch.

Bruce Roberts, Carmel resident, will run for the post of Carmel mayor.

The state compliance team in its review gives Tularcitos Elementary School and Carmel High school "A's."

Environmentalist Timothy Grady runs for mayor of Carmel.

FEBRUARY

Incumbent coucilmen Robert Stephenson and David Maradei become candidates in the election. Challenging them are Elinor Laiolo, Bob Fischer, Robert Weber, Anne Woolworth, Tom May and Don Lampson.

The Carmel City Council approves a subdivision of the former Sprouse-Reitz Variety Store space on Ocean Avenue and requires applicants architect George Brook-Kothlow and businessman Roxy Rapp to pay approximately $126,000 in-lieu parking fees.

The Carmel City Council resolves to ask the Monterey Board of Supervisors to reopen the Carmel Area Land Use Plan.

Carmel Beach easily survives the storms thanks to a massive $800,000 city restoration project in effect since the 1983 storms.

California-American Water Co. will undertake a massive four-year water main replacement program in the city of Carmel that is expected to ease the numerous complaints from the city council and citizens over delays in fixing pipe leaks and discolored drinking water.

The Carmel Planning Commission, with a minimum of discussion, unanimously votes that acquisition of Mission Ranch by the city of Carmel was in keeping with the goals and policies of the city's general plan.

Longtime Carmel fireman Alex Gibson dies Feb. 9.

MARCH

Carmel honors local photographer Edward Weston on the centennial of his birth.

The city of Carmel announces plans to undertake a major downtown storm drainage replacment program and street resurfacing project.

A plan to replace Rosie's Bridge on Esquiline Road in Carmel Valley is unveiled.

Twenty-three-year-old Carmel resident Kim Wright is selected to join the "Up With People" international non-denominational program.

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District votes to submit a proposed 29,000-acre foot gross storage dam for its environmental impact report, but add they hope to submit a smaller dam for the vote in November.

The League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula will check the voter rolls to ensure that voters reside within the city limits.

The action was prompted by rumors and charges that voter fraud had occurred during registration for the upcoming city election.

Several tourists and about 100 Carmel residents, businesspeople and members of the news media gathered at La Playa Hotel to hear mayoral candidates Clint Eastwood, Mayor Charlotte Townsend and 10 other hopefuls in the city election.

The Carmel Youth Center faces a financial crisis after the rainout of its major fund-raiser, AT&T golf tournament (formerly the Bing Crosby Pro-Am), and major repair and renovation projects.

The Carmel Recreation Program comes in under its budget.

Carmel resident and former Green Beret David Maurer's book about Vietnam, The Dying Place, is released by Dell paperbacks.

The Pebble Beach Co. requests Pebble Beach Community Services District withdraw the district's application to California Coastal Commission for a water reclamation plant at Sawmill Gulch in Del Monte Forest and decertify the environmental impact.

The request coincides with the release of a report by consultant Frank Dryden which recommends a reclamation plant be built at the Carmel Sanitary District facility.

Mayoral candidate Clint Eastwood charges that Carmel City Councilman David Maradei, who is facing a stiff challenge for re-election, is behind the recent investigation into potential voter registration fraud in Carmel.

Carmel City Treasurer Sandy Skillicorn resigns her post so she can support candidate Clint Eastwood in the election.

A local rock band, The Medflys, release a song and video called Don't Mess With the Mayor about Clint Eastwood's campaign.

The Carmel Planning Commission decides one bathroom is enough and voted to allow Carmel restaurant Em Le's to keep its business license.

THE NEWS media descended on Carmel during the election, coming out in force on both election day April 8 and the following morning, when newly-elected Mayor Clint Eastwood held a press conference at the courtyard of La Playa Hotel in Carmel. Eastwood revealed then that he had received a congratulatory call from President Reagan, who asked him how he managed such a landslide and whether the new mayor could offer hims some tips. # The Year in Review 1986

THE FIGHT to ward off federalization attempts by California Sen. Pete Wilson made news early in 1986. Wilson wanted the Big Sur area to come under a National Scenic Area designation, something that was vehemently opposed by local residents, politicians and environmental groups. The Pine Cone even sent reporter Michael Gardner to Washington D.C. to cover Congressional hearings on the issue.

APRIL

Carmel entrepreneur Paul Laub withdraws from the mayoral race saying he wants to present a united front against incumbent Mayor Charlotte Townsend.

An unscientific telephone poll conducted by The Carmel Pine Cone shows candidate Clint Eastwood garnering 77 percent of the vote to Charlotte Townsend's 25 percent. Tim Grady received one vote and Paul Laub received none.

In the council race, Elinor Laiolo led with 58 votes; Bob Fischer next with 48; then David Maradei, 24; Robert Stephenson, 14; Tom May, 11; Anne Woolworth, 4; Don Lampson, 3; and Robert Weber, 2.

Two local television stations — KMST and KSBW — sponsor televised debates between the four mayoral candidates.

An annual report on water use shows that residential use increased and commercial use dropped.

Doyle Clayton, president of the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education, announces his retirement from the board.

Actor/Director/Producer Clint Eastwood wins the Carmel mayoral election in a landslide. Eastwood received 2,166 votes to incumbent Charlotte Townsend's 799. Tim Grady received 31 and Paul Laub, six.

In the council race, Elinor Laiolo and Bob Fischer win the seats held by incumbents David Maradei and Robert Stephenson.

Eastwood promises more public participation in government, saying he wants to "take the government out of the hands of the few and put it in the hands of the many."

Eastwood included "immediate" action on the proposed Sunset Center parking garage, the traffic congestion problems in town, bathrooms at Piccadilly Park and said he will analyze the lawsuits the city is currently involved in.

The media decends on the city of Carmel for the election and a special press conference is set up in Sunset Center with at least 180 journalists representing 76 newspapers, magazines, radio stations and television.

They came from as far away as Australia, Fiji, France, South Korea, Brazil and Belgium. Also on hand were the BBC and Voice of America.

City Hall fielded telephone inquiries. City staff person Mary Jahr-Purvis said she stopped counting the number after three dozen calls.

The Carmel Pine Cone comes out a day early, on Wednesday, to compete with the daily papers for news of its hometown election "heard 'round the world."

New plans for the proposed Harrison Memorial Library annex are unveiled for the board of trustees in a special meeting.

Longtime Carmel resident Natalie Murray dies.

Clint Eastwood is sworn in as mayor of Carmel on April 15. Also sworn in are councilmembers Elinor Laiolo and Bob Fischer.

The ceremony was held outside city hall to accommodate the numerous friends, family and supporters of the candidates as well as onlookers and news media.

A preliminary report from Bill Foster of Monterey architectural firm Hall, Goodhue, Haisley and Barker, presents the "probable" cost of the Harrison Memorial Library annex at $905,000.

Dale Ellis, Monterey County Zoning Administrator, rejects a proposed 58-unit hotel at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

MAY

John Skeels of Berkeley raced to an early lead at the half-mile mark and outdistanced Nick Yray of Morgan Hill to win the first-ever Big Sur International Marathon, a 26-mile spectacular Sunday extravaganza. Leslie McMullin, a flight attendant from Oakland, won the women's race and finished 42nd overall.

Local finishers were led by Rick Suchomel of Carmel in 11th place and Carmel attorney Ron Parravano, who came in 14th.

The race was from the town of Big Sur to the intersection of Highway 1 and Rio Road.

Monterey County 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman officially states her opposition to Sen. Pete Wilson's bill to federalize Big Sur.

Strasser-Kauffamn said that the bill would "scrap" the county's land use plan, give too much power to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and is "overwhelmingly" opposed by the residents of the region.

THE ODELLO East artichoke fields cropped up several times in the news in 1986, including a lawsuit that was dropped by the newly-elected Carmel City Council led by Mayor Clint Eastwood and the controversy over whether the property — located just south of the Carmel River adjacent to Highway 1 — should be included in the Carmel Valley Master Plan. (It was eventually excluded.)

The Cypress Inn is picketed by longtime workers not rehired by new owners Ben Heinrich, Douglas Dusenbury, Richard Albers and Dennis Levett.

Carmel Mayor Clint Eastwood states he would not ask the present Carmel Planning Commissioners to resign before their terms expire, but added there could be some changes in the commission in the future.

In the first Carmel City Council meeting for the new mayor and councilmembers, the coucil voted to drop its long-standing legal feud with the Odello family over building on their east artichoke field off Highway 1.

The action was just one of the 50 items on the agenda which took six hours to get through. Other actions included dropping the city's lawsuit against Spanish Bay, final approval of public restrooms in Devendorf Park, delaying library annex plans, banning Fourth of July fireworks and agreeing to sell Flanders Mansion.

The large audience, which included tourists and residents alike, had to be moved in and out of city hall in shifts.

Monterey County 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman promised that she will continue to lobby the board to ensure that the Odello East ranch just south of Rio Road is included in the planning area of the Carmel Valley Master Plan.

Carmel resident David Archer, a Eastwood campaign worker, was charged with the Pebble Beach murder of Pacific Grove resident Raymond Podell. Archer was captured in San Louis Obispo after being hunted for a week by law enforcement authorities.

Saks Fifth Avenue opens in Carmel Plaza and becomes the largest store in the city.

JUNE

The Carmel City Council voted 3-2 to fire Carmel Planning Commissioners Sandy Swain, Tom Nash, Gene Cava and Marjorie Montelius before their terms expire. Commissioner Ken White was the only member of the fomer planning commission retained.

Eastwood's nominations of architects Olof Dahlstrand and Fred Keeble, realtor Carla Ramsey and Carmel Pine Cone publisher Bill Brown were approved in another 3-2 vote. Councilmembers James Wright and Helen Arnold cast the dissenting votes on both decisions.

Eastwood's decision to dismiss four planning commissioners was assailed by Wright as vindictive and smacks of "patronage expected in the boroughs of New York City or the wards of Chicago."

The Carmel Planning Commission, still consisting of the former administration's appointees, approved an ordinance that specifically exempts ice cream cones from Carmel's ban on takeout food and loosens restriction that make ice cream parlors difficult to approve.

The ordinance must be reviewed by the Carmel City Council.

AUGUST

Amid jubilation and applause, the Carmel City Council approved both the proposed Harrison Library Annex and a joint venture with the Pine Inn for an underground parking facility at Sixth Avenue and Lincoln Street. Estimated price tag for the annex is $905,000.

The proposed Mahroom condominium development was denied its building permit by the Monterey Board of Supervisors. The vote meant that the 39-unit project at High Meadows did not meet with the county's environmental plans.

The Carmel City Council imposed a 45-day urgency ordinance that suspends issuance of any building permit, business license or use permit that involves a change of water use. The action received unanimous approval even though the city was told water use in the city was at 99.99 percent of its annual allocation from the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District and not over 100 percent as previously thought.

The council took the action to usurp the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District possibly imposing a moratorium on water meter permits in Carmel.

DOLLARS & SENSE

By Anthony Piazza & Marshall Bloom

The son of earn more

MUCH OF the news emanating from Carmel following the election of our new mayor had to do with who did or did not have the right to sell certain kinds of merchandise which capitalized on the fact that Clint was now hizzoner.

With our minds constantly on the vagaries of the marketplace we saw a parallel between the selling of Clint Eastwood T-shirts and the "earn more" bias of our latest tax reform. For what, after all, can you call the rush to spin off a mini-wave of Clint-oriented products than a series of unexpected dividends.

T-shirts are dividends? Obviously they are to some folks. But what you and we have in mind has more to do with a quarterly share of the profits of the company whose stock we happen to own. Once upon a time investors thought of stocks primarily as dividend producers. Perhaps this tax reform is bringing about a renaissance of the idea.

A recent article in Forbes stressed the value of dividend- producing stocks. And our company's investment strategist, John Connally, recently compared stock dividends to products like autos (and T-shirts?) by stating that he had never heard of a dividend being recalled. And he went on to say that earnings are a figment of an accountant's imagination, but dividends are real.

Dividends estimates rarely change, and when they do, often they are raised. Pacific Lighting, a Los Angeles-based utility, has raised its dividend every year for 10 years running, from $1.68 per share to the current $3.48. And Consolidated Edison, like Pacific Lighting rated A plus by Standard and Poor, has raised its dividend every year since 1974, from $.43 to the current $2.68.

It is rare that a dividend reduction comes like a bolt out of the blue. On the other hand, T-shirts fade, and the next mayor may not be as photogenic.

Have a merry Christmas!

WHO'S ASLEEP AT THE SWITCH?

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors have given Carmel the usual annual overlook. They met the other day and appropriated $2,800 for advertising Monterey County. The appropriation was apportioned as follows: Salinas $600, King City $600, Monterey $600, Pacific Grove $600, Pajaro $300, California Development Board $180.

Why is Carmel left out? Carmel is in Supervisor Roberts' district. Ask him. The assessed valuation of Carmel property is computed by county officials to be in excess of a half million dollars. When these same officials are running for office they are Johnny-on-the-spot to corral our votes, but when it comes to returning us some of our tax money, they overlook us entirely.

Now, the question is, who is it up to to see that Carmel gets its share of the county money? We have a Board of Trustees, a Community Club and Civic League.

This matter should be taken up at once.

About 125 Carmel employers of one or more workers received several weeks ago from the hands of Assistant Postmaster John L. Nye the blanks which they and their workers are required by the terms of the U.S. Social Security Act to fill and return to the post office. The act goes into effect Jan. 1, 1937, and the deadline for returning the filled blanks has already passed. But as a good many employers and workers did not send them in on time, the date has been extended, but both are asked to complete their paperwork and return the documents to the post office at once.

Nowhere will Christmas be more enthusiastically celebrated than at the lively Mission Fields home of Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. Francis L. Beardsley, whose wedding in September united their two families for a total of 18 children.

Christmas lights are strung up in happy profusion at the Beardsleys', both inside and out. The eaves and a porch are literally blazing with colored bulbs come nightfall.

Everyone will be at home, Mrs. Beardsley reports, and she plans to prepare Christmas dinner for 22, including two guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Beardsley, both widowed in prior marriages, met last summer after exchanging prayers by mail. They were wed on Sept. 9 in Carmel Mission Basilica.

The Carmel High School girls' basketball team came out on top in last weekend's Pacific Grove Girl's Basketball Tournament, winning all three games.

The three-day tournament, which began Dec. 16, led to the defeat of Carmel's three opponents: North Salinas, Salinas and Pacific Grove. Two of Carmel's players were named among the seven picked as all-tournament players.

Gigi Galang and Cynthia Snorf, both seniors, gained all-tournament status. Galang was high point scorer, with half of Carmel's points to her credit, including the final basket achieved in overtime, with 12 seconds to go. Snorf was named because she is a strong forward and rebounder.

Ten miles from downtown Carmel along California's scenic Highway 1, the new Soberanes Point Trail opened inside the recently acquired Garrapata State Park in Big Sur, a distance of approximately 20 miles.

Although not officially open to the public until Jan. 15, members of the media and state officials were given a special preview tour of the 1.2-mile trail, which is now being finished by the California Conservation Corps.

"We just cut through the fanfare and red tape and got the job done," he said. Government agencies invovled in developing the trail included Parks and Recreation, Conservation Corps, State Coastal Conservancy, Coastal Commission and Caltrans.

Happy Holiday and Merry Christmas!

DECEMBER HAS been a time for thinking of the less fortunate and doing things to help them. A time for close friends and family and a time for a beehive of parties, get-togethers and sparkling galas.

The Christmas portion of the holiday season is now directed to the family and home. We wish you the best Christmas Day ever.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS PARTY OF THE MONTH

The place was crowded, full of joy, filled with children tugging their way gently past adults, and the small quarters were extremely cramped. It was the Annual Open House Christmas Party for Children's Services Center of Monterey County.

It was the best Christmas party of this season!

There were no beaded gowns, no tuxedos, no glitter and glitz. It was teeming rain at arrival time. Guests faced a flight of stairs, and, in fact, everyone had to hurdle a two-foot fence across the entrance (a protective measure for toddlers). But once inside, genuine Christmas spirit prevailed — parents, children, volunteers, friends and staff. In its short existence of three years the agency has placed nearly 50 children through adoption and many of those families linked into a happy unit were there.

In 1984 volunteers raised monies for two new programs: specialized foster care and a child passenger-safety-seat-loaner program. In 1986 the Cypress Chapter, headed by Kate Rayne of Carmel, provided seed money for another new program (which is not done anywhere else in the country) — a scholarship fund for foster children when they reach age 18. There was a special donation of $10,000 to begin the fund and Mrs. Rayne presented a check at the party for $7500 to add to this fund. With only 22 members the Cypress Chapter has contributed $32,500 this past year.

AUCTION GALLERIES UNLIMITED

CRAIG LEE HEMPHILL

You now have a choice. A new auction gallery has opened up on the Monterey Peninsula! Auction Galleries Unlimited, at 571 Lighthouse Ave., in Monterey has opened its doors to be of service to you.

We at Auction Galleries Unlimited want to change the means by which you sell your precious possessions. We are a bonded and licensed auction company with a combined experience of over 40 years in the auction business.

MR. CRAIG LEE HEMPHILL was first introduced to the Peninsula as auctioneer and manager of the Auction Studio in 1972. Learning from the ground up, Craig gained valuable knowledge and experience in all phases of the auction business. His extensive background in economics and marketing enabled him to expand the scope of a small family auction business. Specifically, Craig expanded the research library; tripled the preferred customer mailing list; developed an inhouse advertising agency covering the media, developed new display techniques for better marketing of your antiques and collectables.

TOM JOHNSON, Manager of Auction Galleries Unlimited, offers 12 years of experience in the auction industry. Promotions from Warehouseman to Manager of the Friday Sale and then to Manager of the entire Saturday Sale demanded not only familiarity with antiques and art, but also experience in research, display, cataloguing of the sale, and customer relations. Tom's interest in and knowledge of art, particularly in limited edition prints, assures you an open and honest appraisal for your special item.

GEORGE STONE comes to Auction Galleries Unlimited with over 30 years in the auction business, as a Truck Service Moving specialist. George who will take special interest in the transportation of your valuables. He and his assistant will personally and professionally wrap and pack everything that you want to go to auction.

Auction Galleries Unlimited is a professional auction corporation dedicated to giving advice and assistance to individuals, executors, and trustees in the disposition of single items, collections, and estates.

Our services include the liquidation of estates — from the furnishings to the real estate. The same service applies to businesses, whether large or small. We also have on-site sales. Whether your needs are a "Tent Sale" complete with catering, or a "Price Tag Sale", Auction Galleries Unlimited has the complete auction plan for you.

Our newly remodeled gallery offers an elegant setting in which to display and auction your valuables. Auctions are held once a month and run 2 days in length.

HOW IT WORKS:
If you are selling, our sliding scale consignment rates keep interest high for both buyer and seller. The higher the hammer price, the lower the commission percentage! On a per item basis, the percentages are 25% for $100 and under; 20% for $101 to $500; 15% for $501 to $1500, and 10% for $1501 and above.

As a seller, your benefits include extensive advertising, insurance, truck service, storage, prompt payment, and more money returned to you. As an added service, Craig Hemphill, your auctioneer, will confer with you in the privacy of YOUR OWN HOME OR BUSINESS and give you a FREE written estimate of your valuables. Consignments are by appt. only. In this manner we can give you our individual attention. We at Auction Galleries Unlimited are ready and willing to be of service to you. Call today for further information.

Auction Galleries Unlimited thanks you for taking the time to read this invitation to participate in one of the oldest forms of free enterprise.

their 61st year with a special sit-down Christmas luncheon.

The ladies were dressed for the season and the stunning decorations were the artistry of Berta Melanson.

Leonie Erickson, club president, welcomed everyone, including the only male member — Perry Moothart — who was having a great time with the ladies. Mrs. Erickson presented club pins to nine new members as the one hundred members present joined in to welcome them.

Jacqueline Rosett Dickman and Peggy Brown filled the air with Christmas songs for an hour to the accompaniment of zither, guitars and a synthesizer.

Peggy loves to sing and to share her musical talents. She has performed in musical comedies in San Francisco and with big bands. She and her husband, Scott, composed an original song for the Special Olympics in Monterey in 1985.

Jacqueline has performed in Radio City Music Hall in New York, in the Hollywood Bowl and in the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, and has directed children's theater for 22 years.

CHRISTMAS GALA FOR SYMPHONY GUILD

The Monterey Peninsula Country Club was beautifully and colorfully appointed for the holiday season. Holiday glitter and black ties adorned the 170 guests who were completely smitten by the sound waves of Dick LaSalle and His Society Music.

A delicious holiday fare was served to the Symphony Guild members and guests for their Annual Christmas Gala: mushroom soupe en croute, salmon mousse, prime rib with Yorkshire pudding, and Grand Marnier souffle. White and red wines and bubbly were provided courtesy of The Monterey Vineyard, the official winery of the guild.

CARMEL GARDEN CLUB CREATES CHRISTMAS CHEER

Members of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Garden Club gathered at the Church of the Wayfarer Thursday December 18 for one of their traditions — the annual Christmas workshop. There were 60 busy hands and 30 creative minds and hearts.

The purpose was to create scores of holiday tray floral arrangements for Christmas dinners sent to home-bound senior citizens by the Carmel Foundation. They also made table arrangements for the foundation Christmas dinner.

Trees were trimmed for Harrison Memorial Library for the children, for the Carmel Foundation, and for the only male Garden Club member (honorary), Mr. Addison Posey, who is in his 90s and is ailing at the moment. His tree was filled with cheerful white birds, red hollyberries and lights.

The Christmas spirit of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Garden Club reaches out to others through its artistry for this holiday season.

OBITUARIES

Herbert L. Hodgetts

Memorial services took place Dec. 16 at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley, for Herbert L. Hodgetts, a Carmel resident and retired insurance executive, who died Dec. 11 at the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 68.

Born July 30, 1918 in New York, he was an alumnus of Princeton University, class of 1939, and served with the Army in the Pacific in World War II. He was an executive with Chubb & Son insurance firm in New York for 40 years.

He was a member of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley, Old Capital Club and Monterey History and Art Association. He also served as a volunteer for Friends of the Sea Otter and as a docent at Point Lobos State Reserve.

Survivors include two daughters, Sandra Chipman of Weld, Maine, and Sharon Courter of Marlboro, N.J.; three sons, Robert of Boulder, Colo., Shawn of Poway and Thomas of Billings, Mont.; and six grandchildren.

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove under the direction of the Paul Mortuary.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula, Sterling College in Craftsbury Common, Vt. 05827 or Friends of the Sea Otter.

Betty Ashley

Cremation took place at the Monterey City Cemetery for Betty Brader Ashley, a retired Carmel artist, who died Dec. 14 at her home. She was 63.

An artist most of her life, she was the head fashion illustrator for Joseph Magnin in San Francisco and Neiman Marcus in Dallas. She was one of the top fashion advertisers in the country, and was awarded a gold medal from the New York Art Directors Club.

In a feature story in Women's Wear Daily, July 19, 1966, she is quoted as saying, "I'm a great believer in the excellence of drawing. An ad doesn't have to be just a lot of merchandise. It can make the newspaper more pleasant...can be an illustration in terms of an idea, not just a graphic reproduction of a piece of merchandise."

Her memberships included the Christian Science Church in Carmel.

She is survived by her husband, Frank.

At her request, no services took place. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Bernard Messinger

Graveside services took place Dec. 11 at El Carmelo Cemetery in Pacific Grove for Bernard Lee Messinger of Pebble Beach, a peninsula resident since 1972, who died Dec. 7 at Seton Medical Center in Daly City. He was 74.

Born April 23, 1912 in Chicago, he was a graduate of the Illinois Institute of Technology, and was an engineer at Lockheed Corp. before retiring.

He was a member of the Baha'i Faith.

Survivors include his wife, Marion of Pebble Beach; a sister, Lucille Miller of southern California; and a brother, Donald of Rockford, Ill.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Jon Scott White

Memorial services took place Dec. 12 at the El Estero Chapel of the Mission Mortuary for Jon Scott White, a general contractor, who died Dec. 9 at Community Hospital. He was 32.

Born Nov. 24, 1954 in Hartford, Conn., he had been a resident of the peninsula for the last four years, and had also previously lived on the peninsula from 1969 to 1972.

He was valedictorian of his 1972 graduating class at Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach. He was also a 1977 graduate of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, where he earned two degrees with honors in international business and in Spanish and French.

Survivors include his parents, Jayne and Jack White, and a brother, Jack R. Jr., all of Carmel.

Katherine Beasley

Cremation, followed by inurnment in Riverview Memorial Park, Trenton, N.J. took place for Katherine Audrey Beasley, a 40-year resident of Carmel, who died Dec. 12 at Natividad Medical Center. She was 70.

Born May 25, 1916 in New York City, she was the daughter of Mercer Beasley, widely known tennis coach in the 1930s.

She was known by her friends for her painting and writings, and she worked for 10 years in the Treasure Chest, a Carmel shop, before her health failed.

She is survived by a brother, James of San Diego. At her request, no services will take place.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Katherine Beasley Memorial Library, c/o Gabrielle Esperanza, General Delivery, Carmel Valley, CA 93924.

J.D. Patterson

Funeral services and entombment took place Dec. 10 in Fresno, for J.D. Patterson, a former Pebble Beach resident, who died Dec. 7 in a Rancho Mirage hospital. He was 88.

Born Sept. 5, 1898 in Fresno, Mr. Patterson, who was known as Jack, lived in Pebble Beach for nine years during the 1950s. He was a business and real estate investor and maintained homes in Palm Dessert and Patterson, the San Joaquin Valley town founded by his father. He continued to be a frequent visitor to the peninsula and also continued his membership in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

In 1981, long after he moved from this area, he donated to Carmel a lot adjacent to Carmel Beach worth $450,000. The gift climaxed a lengthy battle that wound up in an unsuccessful lawsuit against the regional coastal commission after it turned down Mr. Patterson's application to build homes on that lot and three adjoining lots.

Survivors include his wife, Edna; a daughter, Suzanne Kalistratov of Fresno and two grandsons.

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

"To fight the good fight"

From Jan. 7, 1982 edition of the Pine Cone

St. Timothy was the first Bishop of Ephesus in Asia Minor, now part of Turkey. He was the most beloved and trusted disciple of St. Paul of Tarsus.

When he was a young man, Paul wrote him this advice which could be the motto of Carmel Rotary: "Stop drinking water only and use a little wine for your stomach's sake and your frequent illnesses."

In the same series of lettes, he warns Timothy against being a drinker and a brawler and not to be "double tongued and given to much wine."

St. Paul, like most good men, was not a fanatic. He thought that "in vin media stat virtus." (In the middle way lies virtue.) He exhorted Timothy to be moderate but not stuffy — to pursue the good life with love, patience and mildness.

Oh Lord, help us to follow Paul's advice, to fight the good fight. May we refrain from counting days but make each day count.

Finally, in a Santa Fe, New Mexico paper I read this filler. Little Panchito asked, "Mamacita, do men get to heaven? I have never seen a picture of an angel with a beard."

"Si, Panchito, some men get to heaven but only by a close shave." Amen.

Suicide Prevention seeks volunteers

If you are someone who can listen, understand and give calm, competent and gentle support to a distressed person, the Suicide Prevention Center will train you to become a member of a supportive team of volunteers helping people on a crisis line.

Crisis line volunteers serve an average of four hours per week, six months after training.

Volunteers are also needed to assist with the fund-raising committee and speakers' bureau. For more information or an application, call 375-6966, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. After 4 p.m. and on weekends, call 649-8008 or 424-1425.

Children can call Santa directly through 'Santaline'

Children can now call Santa Claus directly through "Santaline" and also help out a charity by dialing a special telephone number.

Through Dec. 31 children who call 976-2233 will get an original two-minute tale from Santa. A portion of each telephone call will be donated to California Special Olympics and Special Olympics International. The funds raised will help support opportunities for the mentally retarded athletes to participate in sports competitions in California and at the 1987 International Summer Olympics to be held in South Bend, Ind.

Charge for dialing in the 408 area code is $2 (plus toll, if any) per call. Children are requested to obtain parental consent before calling.

All stories relayed on the Santaline, sponsored by Teleline Inc., portray an easy-to-understand moral such as sharing, how to enjoy friends, be kind to animals, etc. Santaline calls are handled daily, 24 hours a day.

Dr. Michael Freedom, director of geriatrics and gerontology at New York University Hospital, is concerned about how older people take drugs. By mixing prescription drugs with alcohol or over-the-counter products like aspirin, he says, many elderly people are inducing strokes, kidney disease and dementia. He estimates that there are as many as 300,000 elderly persons in the United States suffering from what appears to be Alzheimer's disease when "the only thing that's wrong with them is that they're taking drugs they shouldn't be." Other dangerous combinations the doctor warns about are blood-thinners being taken with products containing aspirin, which can cause a patient to bleed to death, and certain drugs for high blood pressure or heart disease mixed with tranquilizers or sleeping pills, which can produce a condition that resembles severe mental retardation.

Pipe organ celebrates 'glory of God'

By ANNE PAPINEAU

FIRST-TIME VISITORS to Carmel Mission Basilica may think that its ornate pipe organ has spilled over the upper reaches of the choir loft since the mission was built in 1790.

It is a visual and musical marvel, resplendent with gold leaf, silver pipes and polychrome cherubs that support a scroll inscribed with Lully's Te Deum. The instrument, nearly 2,000 pipes strong, is in fact a blending of technologies old and new, and was installed in the mission just this year at a cost of approximately $350,000.

The Christmas season and a special New Year's Eve recital by virtuoso James Welch will provide a showcase for the Carmel Mission pipe organ, which made an impressive debut in this year's Carmel Bach Festival even before all of its 34 ranks of pipes had been installed.

With two consoles, 27 independent stops and a solid-state Logic Multiplex Coupling system, the organ might appear a formidable instrument. But to Ed Soberanes, basilica organist since 1974, it represents the difference between listening to a recording and hearing a symphony concert presented live.

CARMEL MISSION BASILICA organist Ed Soberanes stands surrounded by a collection of the pipes that give voice to the new mission organ. Pipes are also hidden behind the altar. The instrument, constructed by Casavant Freres of Quebec, Canada, was dedicated Sept. 7. The organ will be showcased during Christmas masses and a Wednesday, Dec. 31 recital by virtuoso James Welch: (Holly McFarland photograph).

"When you're playing an electric organ it's like playing a recording of electronically reproduced sound," Soberanes noted. "The pipe organ is like hearing a live concert. It's almost a live being. There's actually wind going through the pipes to create sound."

Soberanes demonstrated his point by running up and down the scales on one of two organ consoles. Unseen pipes came to life behind the mission altar; their voices were answered by the very showy collection housed in the choir loft.

And at the touch of a toe pedal, delicate, chime-like music issued from the loft, music that suggested the magic of Christmas. The organist had brought to life a Zimbelstern, 10 bells that when played are matched by the revolutions of a star in the choir loft.

The bringing of a first-rate pipe organ to the historic church is the brainchild of the mission pastor, Msgr. Eamon MacMahon. Despite the elevation of Carmel Mission to basilica status and its importance as the burial site of mission founder Junipero Serra, it never housed a distinguished instrument to make music.

CONSTRUCTED THIS year at a cost of $350,000, the Casavant organ at Carmel Mission Basilica looks as though it has always been part of the choir loft. A Canadian firm was awarded the project over American and European designers because it alone succeeded in producing a design that did not obstruct the familiar star window. The organ features nearly 2,000 pipes and computerized circuitry. The ornate casework was designed by Carmel Mission historian Richard Menn. (Holly McFarland photograph).

ART NOTES

By Sam Colburn

Memorable shows

AMONG THE BIG one-man shows which I saw and reviewed during the past year, I think the most impressive were the Armin Hansen and the Edward Weston retrospectives. Armin painted during the time when the sardines were still running. His painting and etching had Form and Feeling. Those were the days when the arrival of the catch was announced by a whistle, and all the ladies who worked in the canneries hustled down to cut, pack and cook the fish. I can remember the strange, acrid odor that hung over the row, and came from cremating fish guts.

Edward Weston's photographs revealed the marvelous form of a pepper or that of a toilet. His nudes were sensuous and intriguing, but not sexual. He helped develop the zone system, which enables the photographer to pick up all detail in the subject matter. Weston was and remains a strong force all over the world. His is not the only voice to be heard from. There is Ansel Adams, Brett Weston, Morley Baer, Hagemeyer, and others who have made the Monterey Peninsula one of the two centers of photography in the United States, the other being New York.

Among artists there is that strange occlusion working. Where are our Rauschenbergs, our Lichtensteins, our Frankenthalers? Many artists came here years ago, and some were already well known, but somehow they never got out of that quicksand known as Carmel. So Armin Hansen, who has been picked by many to become a world famous artist, remains relatively unknown outside of this area. We do have one man, his name is Donald Teague, and his watercolor paintings have a set price and a high one, but it is doubtful that he will become well known in the literature of contemporary art.

THE MONTEREY Peninsula Foundation of Art is having a second showing of the work of its members in the galleries of the Pacific Grove Art Center. This is a very interesting gruop as so far there is no consideration of an applicant's work as a requirement for membership. In the current show there are around 150 paintings, drawings and sculpture. There is absolutely no trend shown in these works. As a whole though the current show is strongly abstract with very little acutely representational painting.

Belinda's Vidor's "Sam" is certainly a portrait, but loosely handled. It is a fluid painting. Mary Burr's sculpture is not abstract, but is concerned with traditional outfits of the Japanese theater. These are done in high fire porcelain. Mary also is showing two oils that have strong abstract form, but also sensitive concern with the subject matter.

The horizontal mounting of Isabel True's five figure studies is very effective, as they relate so well. Dick Crispo's four abstracts in watercolor are closely interwoven in design. Virginia Conroy's paintings are concerned with the use of the space. This is her world and she paints brilliantly. There are two photographs by Betty Peckenpah. They are interesting and, of course, I wonder how she did it.

Out in the hall Jo Smart has hung a series of four watercolors mounted vertically. These are entitled "In the Receipt." I think they are fun. One watercolor that has a fascination with me is Renee Guignard Eaton's "Silver Bowl and Pomegranates." What is alusive and fun about this painting is the partial lack of definition. There is no vagueness in Helen Traeger's little watercolor done up in the Corral De Tierra. John Stark has an excellent flower study, "Mort Des Faux Fleurs." This is the only painting I happen to have seen that is a study of paper blossoms. Also in the hall is a superb little watercolor of boats by Tim Sloan which is loosely painted but works together very well. He also shows the torso of a lady in pastel in the Elmarie Dyke Gallery which is so well drawn that it looks like a painting.

This is a very large show so I cannot cover all that I saw. There are artists showing who are students of Victor Di Gesu, George De Groat, and Sam Colburn. There are many influences working. The "stunner" in the show is Judy Duniworth's huge sculpture which is made of loaves of French bread. They are painted white and hang from the ceiling on long clear strips of plastic. Each loaf is, of course, different, and this gives great variety of shape. I think the really interesting thing about this assemblage are the shadows cast.

IT IS NOT very often that an exhibition will come in from a land far away, in this case Alaska. This is, of course, part of the United States, but we do not get many chances to see the art of the area. It is all the more interesting because Alaska is not the native land of the artist. Her name is Huong. She was forced to flee Vietnam and became one of the "boat people." It must have been some change for her, both in culture and in climate.

Her show is, I believe, sponsored by the State of Alaska and World Explorer Cruises. The gallery, in which she is showing, is in The Barnyard underneath the Thunderbird. Featured are intaglio wood cut prints, each one of which is a limited edition. I have never seen any paintings or graphics that have given me any real idea of life among the Eskimos. Her work does not seem influenced by any contemporary trends. It is perhaps stylized, but is strong and the primitive life of the Eskimo comes through very forcefully.

SITE 311 is a sharp contemporary gallery. The title of the current show is "Material Presence," and is a beautiful example of the use of unorthodox material in the creation of studio art. It is also classed as fiber art. There is a large piece with fiber stems which sprout upward. The buds are ceramic. This improbable plant grows up against a white wall, and the artist has painted delicate blue shadows. The title is "The World as Dream."

Another large work is "La Vida is Sueno." This work is alive with skeletons if that is possible. On an angle across the bottom are many sharks' teeth. This is complicated as there is a subtle interweaving of weaving, drawing and feathers. The name of the artist is Lois Lancaster.

The use of just twigs as sculpture is a natural, and Gyongy Laky has three pieces using this material. She paints the branches in bright color. One of these works is "Kimino Bogie."

Dominic Di Mare has two pieces which are somehow delicate and austere. They both involve a lot of string. I enjoyed Leo Hobaica's "Black Shield with Opening," and "White Tabernacle with Want." These are perhaps whimsical titles, but see apropo. I think of this show as perhaps a bit odd. Which in reality it is not. The artists are simply expressing themselves in different media. They are giving materials a presence — a new meaning.

CHRISTMAS TREES are works of art. I can remember when my father got the tree each year, and set it up in the parlor. As I was an only child, it was my private project. First to go on, of course, were the lights, then the balls and several birds and other ornaments. After that great ropes of tinsel were bound round and round the trees.

Very early on Christmas morning, I was allowed to get up and I hurried down to the parlor. Lo and behold, there was the tree, a miracle of radiance. Oh, I forgot, there was a gleaming star on top.

Casavant organ at mission blends new, old technology

Carmel Mission historian Richard Menn documented that a modest pipe organ was donated to the mission by Captain George Vancouver in 1792, two years after the mission's founding.

"Father Casanova eventually sold it, because according to the Carmel account books, 'Old Serafina though serviceable is of no use to an abandoned settlement.' "

A succession of used organs occupied the mission during periods of operation. The organs themselves did not always function properly, however. By the early 1960s, an electric organ was purchased.

As honorary chairman, Msgr. MacMahon launched the pipe organ fund. A team of consultants that included Soberanes, Carmel Bach Festival organist Kenneth Ahrens and Msgr. Robert Hayburn, a fellow of the American Guild of Organists, began the search for a company capable of designing and building an organ for Carmel Mission.

"The pastor and parishioners did not want the star window in the mission to be obstructed," noted Soberanes, who counts among his ancestors a man who served as guard at the Carmel Mission during the 1700s.

ASSORTED FIRMS were reviewed, but only one, Casavant Freres of Quebec, Canada, produced a design that did not obstruct the distinctive window that illuminates the choir loft.

Casavant Freres constructed a tour de force four-manual organ for the Church of Notre Dame in Montreal in the last century. The company has since added to its reputation by blending contemporary technology with painstaking craftsmanship. The keyboards of the twin organ consoles at the mission, for example, are fashioned of ebony, rosewood and ivory.

Installation of the organ took three months, Soberanes said. First the choir loft had to be reinforced with iron rods to support the new design. Technicians then arrived from Quebec to install hundreds of pipes both in the loft and behind the altar. A hoist carried large components from mission floor to the

"IT'S LIKE A living thing," observed Carmel Mission Organist Ed Soberanes of the new pipe organ. Although the basilica is home to concerts by the Carmel Bach Festival and other musical groups, and is a site of historical importance as the burial place of mission founder Junipero Serra, it never before housed a noteworthy church organ. # New organ at Carmel Mission Basilica boasts 34 ranks, 2,000 pipes upper reaches of the loft.

A coaxial cable permits the second console to be connected to wall receptacles on each side of the nave approximately 10 feet in front of the communion rail and near the gospel side of the entrance in the middle of the nave.

Soberanes said the latter site is his favorite for concertizing, since he is able to fully hear both sets of pipes.

The show of pipes in the gallery organ is composed of 70 percent polished tin. And while Casavant Freres designed and installed the instrument, they built no casework. That task fell to mission historian Richard Menn.

Menn carved much of the casework himself, which is executed in colors and an antique design totally in keeping with the rest of the mission. One of the glass-eyed cherubs that oversees the loft was in fact a relic from the old mission altarpiece.

Soberanes described the organ intallation as "like watching the birth of a child." It was formally dedicated Sept. 7.

The instrument is now a feature of many mission events, and will play a key role in future concerts by the Carmel Bach Festival, the Camerata Singers and other local organizations. It will also serve to musically welcome Pope John Paul II when he visits Carmel Mission Basilica next fall.

The new pipe organ can be heard weekly during masses celebrated at 5:30 p.m. Saturdays and 8 and 11 a.m. and 12:30 and 5:30 p.m. Sundays. For the Christmas masses, Carmel Mission Choir Director Jason Anderson composed Missa Romano, another showcase for the Casavant Freres design.

According to Soberanes, some parishioners balked at the cost of a such an ambitious project, and "Organ Fund" donations are still being sought. He is quick to add that, as in the time of Johann Sebastian Bach, a church organ is an instrument designed "for the glory of God."

"J.S. Bach was a great organist, and he inscribed his compositions with the motto, Soli deo gloria, for the glory of God."

Persons wishing to assist in the funding can mail donations to: Organ Fund, Carmel Mission, Box 2235, Carmel, CA 93921.

Virtuoso organ recitalist James Welch to perform works of 'Bach and Friends'

JAMES WELCH, organist, harpsichordist and carillonneur at the Univeristy of California, Santa Barbara, will play a concert on Carmel Mission Basilica's new Casavant organ at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 31. Admission will be a $5 donation at the door.

Welch, who has been at Santa Barbara since 1977, has played at Notre Dame in Paris; Wurzburg Cathedral in Germany; Lausanne Cathedral in Switzerland; the Franciscan church in Salzburg; city carillons of Holland, Belgium and Israel; and the University of Rio de Janeiro in Brazil.

In this country he has appeared at Harvard, Yale and Duke Universities; the National Cathedral, Washington, D.C.; The Tabernacle, Salt Lake City; the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs and Central Union Church, Honolulu.

Performances in California include Grace Cathedral, San Francisco; Stanford Memorial Church and UC campuses in Berkeley, Santa Cruz, Los Angeles, Irvine and Santa Barbara.

James Welch was awarded the Doctor of Music degree at Stanford where he studied with Herbert Nanney and served as assistant university organist.

He also studied with Parley Belnap at Brigham Young University; Alexander Schreiner, Salt Lake City; Josef Doppelbauer, Mozarteum Akademie, Salzburg; Jean Ste. Clothilde, Paris and John Walker of Riverside Church, New York City.

The New Year's Eve concert at Carmel Mission will feature compositions of "Bach and Friends."

AIDS program will train advocacy workers

Training sessions on how to be a companion to people who have AIDS or ARC (AIDS Related Complex) have been scheduled by the Monterey County AIDS Project's Companionship-Advocacy Committee.

The sessions, set Jan. 16, 17, 18, 24 and 25, are modeled after the Shanti Project of San Francisco, a hospice for AIDS patients for the past six years, according to Al Syslo, MCAP program director.

The program will cover several areas, including grief; death and dying; the medical aspects of AIDS; suicide; peer counseling and active listening and psychological issues faced by those with AIDS/ARC.

It will also include religion and AIDS; advocacy for AIDS/ARC patients, safe sex practices and substance abuse.

There will be times for processing and role playing. People with AIDS/ARC and other already trained companions will share their own personal accounts.

MCAP, a non-profit corporation made up of volunteers offers a support system of peer counseling and support groups to persons with AIDS/ARC, their families, friends and significant others.

The 40-hour training program will be open only to those who are interested in being companions with AIDS/ARC, and those who are HIV (HTLV-III) positive.

Further information may be obtained by writing to Monterey County AIDS Project, P.O. Box 221785, Carmel 93922; or by calling the MCAP answering serving in Salinas, 424-5550.

There will be a limited number of people accepted for the program. Registration fee is $75.

Washington D.C. 'Wings of Peace' display by local artist

A Monterey Peninsula artist, Iraj Tâj-Tehrani, will have a work entitled "Wings of Peace" displayed in the rotunda of the Cannon House Office Building in Washington during the holiday season, according to Rep. Leon E. Panetta.

The work, a batik on pure silk, approximately seven feet by five feet, depicts a bald eagle with an olive branch in its beak and a red, white and blue banner in its talons, against a backdrop of a brilliant sun. It was placed in the Cannon Building Tuesday and will remain there until Dec. 31.

Taj-Tehrani resides in Pebble Beach. He was born in Tehran, Iran, and received a degree in architecture from California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo in 1973.

Panetta was instrumental in obtaining permission for Taj-Tehrani to display his work in the Cannon Building.

"I am proud that thousands of Americans will now have an opportunity to view this work by an artist living in our district," he said. "There is no more important subject or theme for art than peace. I hope this work can make a small contribution to world peace."

The Year in Review 1986

DECEMBER

The Carmel City Council votes to return $62,595 of in-lieu parking fees and a letter of credit for $62,595 more to architect George Brook-Kothlow and businessman Roxy Rapp.

The fees were charged by the previous administration under the master use permit when Brook-Kothlow and Rapp subdivided a commercial space on Ocean Avenue.

The Carmel City Council extends for a year the urgency ordinance which bans new building that increases water use. A year was the least time the ordinance could be extended for.

Singer/musician Ike Turner is released from Brightside ACT after completing its drug rehabilitation program. Turner was addicted to cocaine.

Sioux Scott, founder and publisher of Coasting and publisher of The Exchange dies Nov. 29. She was 44.

Jasmin Reate, a 7-year-old Carmel Valley resident who attends Briarcliff Academy, is featured as the title character in the new Eddie Murphy film The Golden Child, which opened nationwide Dec. 12.

Carmel Mayor Clint Eastwood buys Mission Ranch for an undisclosed amount.

Eastwood said he would keep the property undeveloped and the way it is. The fate of Mission Ranch, an old farm now a restaurant and bar, includes historic buildings and large sections of wetlands. The city and Carmel Heritage had been trying to raise the money to buy it from its owners who planned to develop the property into townhomes.

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors excludes the Odello property from the Carmel Valley Master Plan. The Odello family has been attempting to develop the eastern artichoke fields for years and resisted inclusion in the master plan.

The city begins to "crack down" on habitual parking offenders and collect outstanding ticket fines, which total $127,397.

Carmel writer Bob Campbell's mystery novel In La La Land We Trust is released by Mysterious Press.

The California Coastal Conservancey authorized a $200,000 grant to be applied to the Carmel Beach Restoration Project but without a strong show of unanimity from the Carmel City Council, the offer could be withdrawn.

The Monterey Peninsula Board of Supervisors unanimously approved a resolution to adopt the Carmel Valley Master Plan. The board appears convinced that this plan will survive the strict scrutiny of the courts.

In a unanimous decision the Carmel Planning Commission restores the requirement for an environmental impact report on Craig McFarland's seawall.

PEBBLE BEACH PANACHE

You've waited a lifetime, and now the opportunity is here — opening to the 4th green and 5th tee of Monterey Peninsula Country Club's Shore Course in Pebble Beach, with ocean expanses beyond, this sumptuous new contemporary is spacious yet intimate, warm yet cosmopolitan. Local architects Bredthauer/Curran have created a stunning statement in natural redwood and marble, copper and elegant tile, wall and floor coverings; a liberating kitchen (which includes Subzero and Thermodor, triple Jennair and Kitchenaid), hideaway library/study, three bedroom suites, including a master suite that defies comparison. Plan ample time to inspect the impeccably crafted detail of this newly completed masterpiece — living area totals approximately 4,000 square feet, and the views are limitless. Well-worth the original asking price of $1,100,000, but now reduced to $975,000!

CALIFORNIA CONTEMPORARY AT CARMEL VALLEY GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

Fourteenth fairway panoview from a captivating contemporary — intimate yet breezy, with superior quality throughout. Interior features leaded glass and slate, new carpeting and subtle tile. Dual master suites are magnificent — one boasts a grand shower, and the other, a garden atrium. Spectacular family room with greenhouse dining area opens to pool and gardens. Gourmet kitchen will win the chef's heart! Uniquely angled rooms shelter river-rock swimming pool and waterfall. Elaborate solar energy system throughout is computer controlled. Function, beautifully incorporated with design and quality. Outstanding at $459,000.

CARMEL SPACIOUS PLEASE COME IN

...it's hard to appreciate the amenities of this newer 2800 square foot Carmel residence thru the screen of trees. Inside, golden oak floors pave an impressive welcome to the 36 foot gallery entry. Artfully designed for family living or gracious entertaiing, the oversized living room features a massive raised hearth brick fireplace. An opulent master suite enjoys a second fireplace, much wardrobe space, and a bath/dressing area with double sink, Japanese-style open shower, a sunken tub and skylights. The kitchen abounds in delightful surprises! Carmel-by-the-Sea, South of Ocean Avenue, and oversized lot — the right home in the right location — offered at $379,000.

PEBBLE BEACH LAND

Select from a ¼ acre parcel in the Country Club area, well-located on a sleepy lane, $125,000 OR choose a high-profile, view parcel in a premium location at $154,000.

OCEAN FRONT HOME on the SOUTH SUR COAST

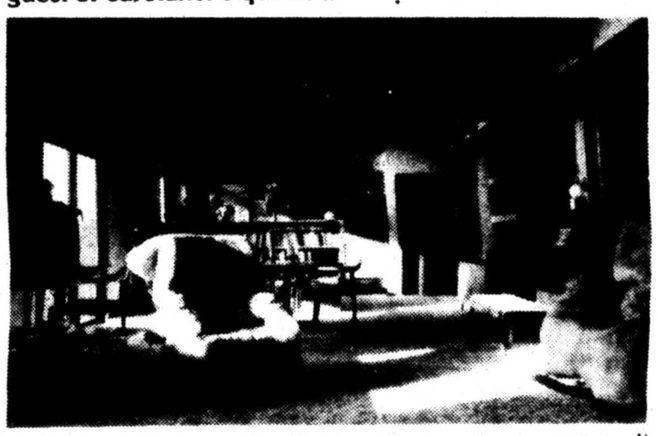
This 1600 sq. ft. home was designed by its architect/owner for his personal residence. Completed in 1980, with a sod roof blending naturally into its site, development probably could not be duplicated today, under the California Coastal Act. All partitions are shear-wall for earthquake safety the house is set back 70' from the 110' bluff, overlooking the ocean.

The bay window at the south end of the living room is a wonderful spot in which to curl up to dream, read or watch the ever changing ocean. Just off this area is the master bedroom and bath, completely separated from the other bedrooms and bath, which could be used for guest or caretaker's quarters.



A Vermont castings Parlor Stove (not pictured) enhances the cozy indoor environment. The kitchen, at the north end of the living area, is separated by a half wall. This room also opens to the ocean-side deck, for further dining convenience. Beyond the deck are extensive gardens and orchards which thrive in this warm, sunny climate.

This lovely 5.25 acre, mostly level site is situated midway between Carmel and San Simeon (43 miles each way). Enjoyment of sea birds, seals, otters and whales are but a few delights of life here on the South Sur Coast. Price is $335,000; please call our Coast Properties Division for further details and an appointment to see this special home.
